National Tea Co. To Reopen Store Friday Morning

Entirely New Stock To Be Displayed in Newly Decorated Room

The National Tea Co., will reopen its store at 10 a. m. Friday with a completely new stock and a redecorated room.

All traces of the fire that did much damage to the building and stock a few weeks ago have been removed, the old stock having been removed and replaced and repairs and redecorating having done the rest.

The store has been streamlined on the self service plan. Repainting of the shelves and the walls in attractive pastel tints has made the store lighter and more attractive.

Mrs. Alice Freeman in charge of the grocery department and Henry Schroetter in charge of the meat department announce enlargements of their departments both in size and stock. All of the hard-to-get articles will be for sale at the opening.

A wide variety of meats, poultry, dairy products, baked goods, fruits and vegetables will be on the counters heralding the opportunity to stock the larder for Thanksgiving less than a week away.

Sequois Will Open Net Season Against Grant Hi Wednesday

With five lettermen back on the squad and a squad of 30 candidates to pick from Coach Kruzan of the Antioch Township High school is predicting a better basketball season this year than last when the Sequoia finished seventh place in the league standing.

Just who will be in the starting lineup when the Sequoia take the floor here against Grant next Wednesday night Kruzan hasn't yet decided.

"There are about 10 of the boys who are pushing hard for starting positions and I cannot honestly say just who will get the nod," said Kruzan. "I'm trying out several combinations in practice this week."

The lettermen who saw a lot of play last year were Dan Jones, center; Robert Kraft and Louis Osenbaugh, forwards; James Fields and Orville Hairrell, guards.

A reserve team of freshmen and sophomores will be formed and will play the preliminary games under the name of "lightweights." Their game will start at 7:30 and the varsity game will be at 8:30 p. m. They will play the same schedule that the first team does. This will be the first conference game.

Civil Service Jobs Are Open at Vets Hospital

Permanent positions as attendants at the Downey Veterans Administration hospital are announced this week by the board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners stationed there.

This hospital, a short walk from the Great Lakes rail station, is considered one of the most home-like institutions of its kind in the country. Attendants there are engaged in helping veterans who have lost some of their mental equilibrium to regain their useful position in life.

The positions, according to the announcement, are for attendants who will be companionable and help directly in the care of these veterans. The positions will become permanent after one year of satisfactory service under probation.

While veterans are given first consideration for these jobs applications will be received from all qualified persons. Where qualified veterans are unavailable for the positions competent non-veterans will be appointed.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from Miss L. Marxer, secretary of the board at Downey, or any first or second class postoffice. All applications, from employees now on a temporary or war service basis and others, must be in the hands of the secretary of the board at Downey not later than Jan. 11, 1947.

'Send Your Child To School Whole,' Dr. Keefe Pleads

Local Doctor Tells P. T. A. Sight of Children Is Neglected

"You wouldn't think of sending your child to school with a broken leg not in splints, yet some people send their children to school without glasses even though badly needed just because they don't like to see their children wear them," declared Dr. Frank Keefe in his talk before the grade school Parent Teacher association Monday night.

Speaking on the subject, "Sending the Whole Child to School," Dr. Keefe said that there is danger of not only making the child unsocial but antisocial through the handicap of poor sight.

He begged the parents to cease their neglect of their children where health is concerned and give them full opportunity to live normal lives by detecting physical defects as early as possible and correcting them if such can be done.

It Isn't Business Wanted

"We doctors don't want Jimmy to wear glasses any more than you parents do, but if it means that he can see the blackboard, or can read his books, then we know, as you know, he needs glasses," he said.

Dr. Keefe said the theory that all crossed eyes were the result of weak eye muscles was exploded as erroneous 15 years ago.

"We know it is the lack of power to fuse images and that power lies in the brain," he explained. "That calls for different treatment than that of correcting muscle control."

Dr. Keefe explained nearsightedness and farsightedness and the approach to making these correctives.

The talk was preceded by a program of entertainment in which Patsy Kuelman and Gene Baethke played trumpet solos.

Certificates Awarded

Summer roundup health certificates were awarded to the following children, Sonia Pickus, Myron Kain, Barbara Yates, Nancy Scott, Janet Keisler, Forrest Stahmer, Jack Dupre, Diane Mantis and Charlotte Horton.

Harold Cardiff, vice-president, presided at the meeting in the absence of Henry Rentner, the president. The secretary is Florence Greenock and the treasurer, Alta Christensen.

The next meeting will be on Dec. 9 when there will be a Christmas program and Miss Ida Swall will review children's books, assisted by Miss Flaherty. The men will have charge of the January meeting.

Local Sportsmen to Sponsor Fox Hunt On Dec. 1st

To Be First Move in Hunting And Fishing Club's Drive Against Pests

The Antioch Hunting and Fishing club will begin its drive against foxes and other pests responsible for the destruction of upland game on December first, when members of the club and sportsmen who are interested will band together for a fox hunt. The hunt which will begin at 9 a. m. on Sunday morning will be directed by officers of the Illinois Conservation department, and will make complete coverage of northern Lake County.

Dr. D. N. Deering, president of the club, said today that approximately seventy sportsmen are expected to take part in the hunt and that a cash prize to be awarded to the squad exterminating the largest number of the pests, would be provided, in addition to the regular bounty offered by the county.

The participants will be divided into groups of six men, each with a leader and a regular duty will be assigned to each squad, in order to see that no part of the territory included in the hunt be overlooked.

Deering explained that the hunt is not limited to members of the club and that any interested persons will be welcome. He also said that the committee would appreciate advance registration by hunters who wish to take part. Registration will be at Kennedy's Service Station, Antioch.

Shotguns only will be used in the hunt and no rifles will be allowed, it was explained, because of the danger to other hunters. Even small bore arms will be excluded on this account.

It is believed that the hunt, which is the first of a planned series, will do much to eliminate the foxes which are responsible for the decline in the upland game population.

Telephone Co. to Ask Higher Rates Because Cost up

No Date Set For Petition To State Commerce Commission

Costs of telephone service in Antioch and other villages and cities served by the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. may go up as the result of increased costs to the company, officials have announced.

Although the company does not know when its request will be filed with the Illinois Commerce commission, nor how much increase will be sought, but the present low earnings assures that some such action will be taken.

While engaged in the largest improvement effort in its history, the telephone company has been struggling with its own high cost of living problems. A gradual reduction in earnings is said to have now reached a low comparable to the worst depression year despite the largest number of calls ever.

"Compared with the pre-war year of 1940, Illinois Bell income is up 59 per cent but expenses are up 80 per cent," the company confided. "This new expense burden includes increases on almost everything we buy."

The payroll increases are said to be the greatest problem. Fourteen thousand additional persons have been employed and trained to man new equipment in place or on order, but the payroll increase is largely because of higher wage rates. At this time 60 cents out of every dollar goes to employees in wages, the company reports.

"Our policy has always been to try to provide the best possible service at the lowest cost consistent with fair treatment of employees and the financial safety of the business. The fact is that low earnings now threaten the financial soundness of the business, with consequent harm to customers' service and employees' welfare. Hence, it is evident that the future telephone rates, in common with most other prices, must reflect the increase cost of doing business," the officials said.

"Soapless Soap"

Most people consider petroleum products as chiefly used for fuel and lubricants. As to volume, this is correct, but as to variety of uses it falls far short of telling the story. In addition to the countless services this product renders mankind, we may soon be using oil to wash our hands and clothes.

The demand for petroleum derivatives in the manufacture of "soapless soaps" has been spurred by the natural soap shortage which resulted from the decline in supply of animal and vegetable fats. One of the leading American oil companies has joined with a chemical manufacturing concern in stepping up production of an oil-derived detergent. The product is sold directly to industrial users and reaches established trade outlets for distribution under various trade names.

This is but one more way in which oil is playing a role in the American home and business. Its uses and adaptations seem almost limitless. The great experimental and research laboratories which the industry maintains are finding new and varied applications almost daily. And the consumer gets more and better products.

Oil in Your Daily Living

Most of us think of oil in connection with its most direct uses—such as gasoline and lubricants for the family car. But, as an entertaining little article in a house organ points out, petroleum products enter into our living picture on practically an hour-by-hour basis. When the housewife awakens she turns on a furnace, which may burn oil or gas. She applies cosmetics which have an oil base. She squeezes or slices breakfast oranges coated with wax from petroleum, and eggs which have been treated with a special oil to prevent evaporation and spoilage.

She washes the dishes with a soap that may contain petroleum chemicals. She removes spots from the children's clothes with an oil-based cleaner, and wraps their lunches in wax paper.

Our homemaker then gives the floors the once-over with wax made from a petroleum solvent, and rubs up the furniture with a polish that has an oil base. She liquidates marauding flies with spray containing oil derivatives.

She does her shopping in a gasoline-burning, oil-lubricated car which rides on synthetic rubber tires largely made from petroleum chemicals. And she probably drives over streets surfaced with petroleum asphalt.

Finally, she may buy mineral oil, hair tonic, soothing ointments and kindred commodities made from petroleum.

This list could be extended almost endlessly. The contribution of the oil industry to the ordinary, daily living of the 140,000,000 American people is far beyond the general understanding. And it is constantly increasing.

Responsive to Our Needs

Government ownership is often urged as the remedy for all our real or imagined economic ills. But, in practice, socialized industry seems to have a habit of falling far short of the roscate dreams held out by its starry-eyed advocates. A good example of that can be found along the Oregon Coast where some years ago a People's Utility District (PUD) took over the facilities of the private utility that had long served the area.

Since this PUD came in, the principal change has been an almost unbelievable decline in the standards of electric service. Complete stoppages are frequent. Stringent rules cover the use of electricity and the hook-up of appliances. This is quite a change from the old days when the private utility automatically provided all the juice desired when and where wanted, under strict public regulation from which the PUD is exempted.

As a result, communities which joined the PUD believing they would get plenty of power for practically nothing are now looking at it with a jaundiced eye. The city council of one of the larger towns in the region recently passed unanimously a resolution to get out of the PUD and set up a municipal plant. Another of the larger towns has long been restive and is looking for a way out. And in the meantime, the consumer gets a kind of power service that would immediately bring the toughest possible crackdown from public service commissions if it were provided by a regulated, private company.

What this all adds up to is that socialism produces nothing of itself—except, as a rule, political bungling, red tape, and waste. Only private enterprise is responsive to the needs and desires of the people. That goes for power service—and it goes for all other kinds of business as well.

We go nostalgic and celebrate Christmas in the little red schoolhouse of long ago. This is a suspenseful occasion. Will you be snowbound the night of the doings? Will you remember your lines? All is revealed in "Once Upon a Christmas Time." The illustrations are by John McKee.

Once Upon a Christmas Time

There was to be a Christmas dinner at the little red schoolhouse. You were shocked to hear that you were to spend a piece of the holiday with the school children. But that was the school children's Christmas. The older boys and girls were also given dialogue and songs. In sounded amazingly like a broken record.

One of the older girls, Jennie, recalled at the dinner the party during the winter. With a reminder the participants would again the vocabulary should teach the finish line the path, a last word, and of her head, and they were launched into song.

You were neither allowed to attend whatever conference school teachers present, nor to accompany the older students when they decorated the tree with holly and white popcorn. You stood presiding on a chair as the children in the hot stove that the schoolhouse become a statue.

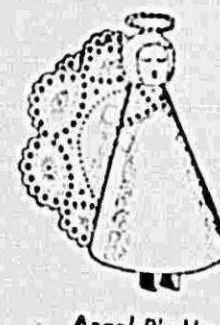

Your happy presence was welcomed by the boys and girls on a decoration, buying the story. One of the older boys, you were given a peppermint stick before being escorted to the kitchen. Structural Chemistry
Structural chemistry is the determination of the structure of chemical substances and the explanation of their properties in terms of structure. This branch of chemical science goes back at least to the ancient time of Lucretius, who wrote of "honey, with smooth round molecules which roll easily over the tongue, whereas wormwood and biting centaury consist of molecules which are hooked and sharp."

Spuria Iris
The spuria iris is among the finest for cutting. The flowers are much like the English iris, but somewhat larger. They should be grown in the more moist part of the garden. They require abundant moisture to do well, but should not be planted in water logged soil. Another excellent cut flower is Iris ochroleuca, and its varieties. This does well in shallow water or in damp locations.

SOCIETY EVENTS

Wilmot Methodist Church To Observe 70th Anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 24

"Wilmot Chapel 1876" is the wording on the marker at the base of the bell tower of the red brick Methodist church which this month marks its 70th anniversary. A special anniversary service will be held on Sunday, Nov. 24, at 10:30 a. m. with the present pastor, Rev. Dale A. Jennings, bringing the morning message. Dinner will be served by the ladies of the church at 12:30 to which all friends and visitors are invited. The day will not only mark an anniversary occasion but a reunion of those who have attended the church in past years. The afternoon will be set aside to renew old friendships.

The original structure still stands, with the exception of the tall steeple which was removed several years ago after being damaged by lightning. In June of 1876 building operations were started. By November it had been completed at a cost of $2,650, built to seat 300 people. It was dedicated in that same month by the Rev. Mr. Atkins, of Waukegan, assisted by the presiding Elder, Dr. Miller. Its first minister was Rev. Blackburn. The bell which calls people to its services was on exhibition at the Philadelphia Centennial of 1876. The brick used in its structure were manufactured on the bank of the river near the site of the present dam. The church building has been recently repaired and its grounds landscaped.

Mrs. M. M. Stillson, of 1049 Spafford st., was elected and installed as district warden at the Rebekah District Assembly in Evanston Tuesday evening.

Head Vegetables
Too close a trim of head vegetables such as cabbage, lettuce, broccoli, cauliflower and celery means a loss of the part that is generally richest in vitamins and minerals. It means a little extra work to make the outside parts appetizing, but the results are worth the trouble. Outside leaves must be carefully washed, and because they are not quite so tender as the inside parts, should be cut into small pieces and put into the pot a little ahead of the rest of the vegetable.

Magnesium Is Ready for Job

Industry Asserts It Is Out To Prove Its Worth in Postwar Market.

NEW YORK. — The magnesium industry, among metals, is loosening its slingshot to do battle with such golems as steel and aluminum for its share of a vast postwar market.

Magnesium is strictly a war baby — unusually precocious but still with a lot to learn about the arts of peace.

The war forced a fabulous expansion in production because aircraft and munitions makers discovered magnesium did things no other metal could do so well.

Now the industry assertedly is out to prove to the housewife, the sportsman, the automobile manufacturer, the machine maker, that magnesium can do for them things no other metal can do so well.

Cost a Minor Factor.

During the war, cost was a comparatively minor factor. Output in 1943 skyrocketed more than 50 times above the 1939 level. The government put up 370 million dollars for building and equipment to get the magnesium the nation needed.

Now magnesium must stand on its own feet in a highly competitive commercial world. One dollar's worth of magnesium must go as far as one dollar's worth of aluminum or steel or copper — other factors being equal.

On a cost basis, industry spokesmen say magnesium is already in a favorable competitive position in a number of fields long dominated by better known metals.

Its boosters see scores of additional areas to conquer as and if production costs decline and fabricating techniques improve.

Enthusiasts claim magnesium is the forerunner in a new age of light metals. The industry, they say, is earmarked for a period of expansion limited only by the ingenuity, enterprise and aggressiveness of its leaders.

Production Under Way.

Production of dozens of articles made of magnesium for the consumer market is already under way. Fabricators still are bedeviled by the headaches which go with any new project but, as these gradually are overcome, more and more finished products will go to market.

Many such items already have an assured outlet — others are still on a frankly experimental basis.

Your favorite department store or hardware store now may have some — a step ladder so light it almost flies out of your hand when you first lift it, or a feather-weight wrench.

Furniture and household equipment bulks large among outlets for the versatile light metal.

A few new mothers already have discovered the advantages of a stroller or carriage that can easily be manipulated with one hand, leaving the other free to manipulate junior.

Ironing boards, beds, chairs, desks and vacuum cleaners are some of the articles in daily use in which the little woman will find elimination of excess weight desirable.

No Round Pegs in Square

Holes, Is Aim of U. S. Army

WASHINGTON. — The old days in the army when truck drivers were picked to be barbers and shoe clerks wound up as mess sergeants soon may be over.

The war department announced a program to train officers in scientific personnel methods. One of the chief aims is to get the right man in the right job. Both civilian and army schools will be used. Ideas will be borrowed from business and industry.

As a first step toward teaching all regular army staff officers, 25 already have been enrolled in intensive one-year courses in personnel management in leading universities. Some 100 others have been chosen for similar one or two-year courses. Instruction has started also at West Point.

As a second phase, personnel management and related courses have been ordered included in courses for officers at every post and camp.

Urge Soviet Budget Cut;

72 Billions for Defense

MOSCOW. — A. G. Zverev, Soviet finance minister, recommended to the Supreme Soviet a reduction of 58,800,000,000 rubles in Russia's defense budget for the next fiscal year. This would be about $11,095,000,000 at the official exchange rate of 5.3 rubles to the dollar.

Zverev proposed that 72 billion rubles be spent for defense.

New Kind of Telescope

Dims Sun's Brilliance

NEW YORK. — A new kind of telescope, called the icaroscope, which looks directly at the sun without blinding the human eye, was described to the Optical Society of America.

This telescope takes virtual motion pictures of the sun. The image of the sun appears on a phosphorescent screen, with the sun's brilliance tremendously reduced, it was reported.

HEALTH HINTS for LIVESTOCK

PASTURE DISEASE A THREAT TO CATTLE

When the farmer finds one or more young cattle dead on pasture, he should not jump to the conclusion that lightning or poisonous plants were the cause.

Such losses may be due to a germ-borne disease known as Blackleg, unless calves have been specifically vaccinated in advance against it.

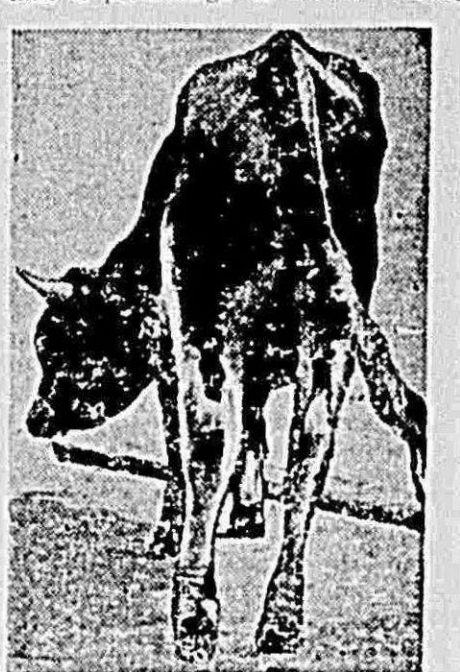

The germs of blackleg like lockjaw, live in the soil. They may survive in infected ground for many years only to kill quickly when least expected.

Every one has heard of gas gangrene, that fatal wound infection so deadly to soldiers. Blackleg is a form or type of gas gangrene which affects the red muscles of calves or cattle.

Also known as "quarter ill", the first symptoms are dullness and lameness, usually of one leg. If one passes the finger tips firmly over the swollen area, a crinkling, tissue-paper feeling may be noted, due to gas beneath the skin.

Good husbandry in "Blackleg areas" calls for seasonal vaccination of all calves against this quick-killing plague when 3 or more months old. The vaccine is one of the least expensive biological products and there is no reason whatever for any owner to lose valuable calves from blackleg.

In former years, all blackleg-sick calves died. Recent reports indicate that a percentage of calves already sick with blackleg can be saved if the veterinarian is able to treat them in early stages. Treatment consists of a large dose of serum and sulfa drugs in the neck vein. But prevention is still the best policy.

Essential to Growth

Vitamin A is essential for growth. A deficient supply of this vitamin leads to weakening of the body tissue and increased susceptibility to bacterial infection, particularly the epithelial tissues. A deficiency of this vitamin has been found to affect the eye.

Big Cities Grow

When Chicago was incorporated in 1837, the city boasted 550 inhabitants as compared with New York's 202,589 for the same period. In 1860, New York had increased to 805,658 while Chicago was still behind with 300,000 in 1870. The 1890 census showed 2,507,414 for New York and 1,099,850 for the Windy City. In 1920, the "champ" widened its margin to 5,620,049 against 2,701,705 in Chicago and according to the last official tabulation in 1940, New York was ahead by over 4½ million.

Fine Metal

Columbium has a fine yellow color and may one day be used for jewelry and tableware. It is used today in welding rods for stainless steel in chemical equipment.

Fresh Carrots

According to the food research specialists, carrots in the stores are prettier with tops on, but less fresh. When the carrot is in the ground nourishment goes from the leaf to the root. When the carrot is pulled out of the ground, the nourishment goes the other way, and the leaves draw moisture and food from the root. Some truckers cut off carrot tops but some do not. To keep the carrots fresh, cut off the tops before you store them. The same rule holds good for other root vegetables — beets, turnips, parsnips, radishes. Take off tops to keep them fresh.

LAKE VILLA

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met at the Village hall on Wednesday afternoon this week with Mrs. Florence Caldwell and Mrs. Florence Whitaker as hostesses. The ladies will hold their Christmas sale on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 4 and will have aprons, rugs, cards and fancy work for sale. Further details next week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Reinebach visited Chicago relatives last Sunday. The ladies of the Sewing club enjoyed luncheon with Mrs. Lulu Nelson and Mrs. William Nelson at Antioch last Thursday afternoon.

The Pinochle club met last Tuesday with Mrs. Earl Hucker at her home for pot luck dinner at 12:30 and games of cards during the afternoon.

The choir girls, nine in number, accompanied by the pastor, Ray Pierson, enjoyed a dinner at the Colony House at Rock Lake last Thursday evening and enjoyed a most delightful evening.

Mrs. Irene Blanchard, of Kenilworth, visited at the Leonard Mattson home last Sunday.

A school bus has been purchased by the school board for use in getting the children in our recently consolidated district to and from school and Mr. Avon Zenor began his duties as operator of the bus on Monday. This will prove a great convenience in many ways for getting the pupils to places hitherto impossible because of lack of transportation facilities.

Mrs. Cora Pickering, of Provo, Utah, is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. G. P. Manzer, and other relatives.

A deal has recently been made by Mrs. Inez Manzer, of La Fayette, Ind., in the sale of the store building occupied by John Effinger as a hardware store with living rooms above and occupied by the William Nicolai and El Tiede families, with Earl Hucker as purchaser.

Mrs. Berta Magden, of Zion, spent

Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Blumenschein.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamlin held open house on Sunday afternoon in observance of fifty years of marriage and more than 100 friends and relatives came in to extend good wishes to the pair. They were married Nov. 18, 1896 at Millburn parsonage and have lived in Lake Villa ever since. Mr. Hamlin with his father and two brothers were engaged in carpenter contracting business for many years and erected many buildings in the vicinity. Mr. Hamlin retired from active business three years ago, but is actively interested in the work and activities of the community, having served as Village treasurer for a number of years. Both are active in church and Village life. They wish to thank their many friends for the beautiful cards and gifts on this occasion. Guests were present from Libertyville, Waukegan, Antioch, Maywood, Kenilworth, Utah, Crystal Lake, Grayslake, Lake Villa, and Salem, Wis.

Sixteen members of the Pinochle club were in Chicago on Wednesday to attend matinee "Oklahoma."

the high cost of living hits HIM too!

Despite its greatly increased volume of business, Illinois Bell, like everyone else has a "high cost of living" problem.

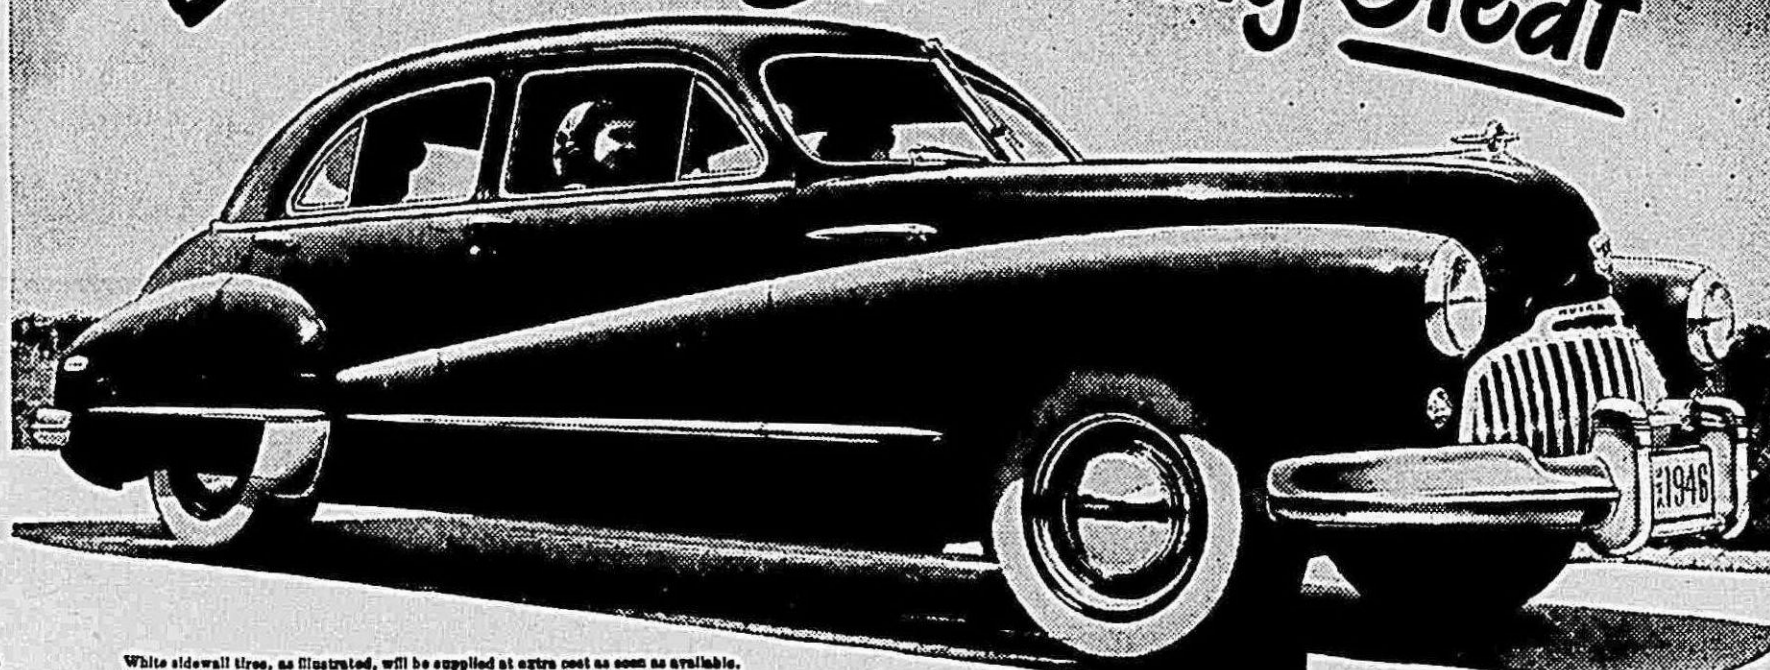

Year after year it's been costing more and more to give you the kind of service you want. Our payrolls have more than doubled since 1940. The prices of materials and equipment are higher than ever. So are building construction costs.

These high costs mean that our expenses have gone up faster than our income. The result is that our rate of earnings is as low as in the worst depression year.

ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

Look ahead to Something Great

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, will be supplied at extra cost as soon as available.

Put to you straight, the story's this:

No car made today is coming to you fast as its makers would like.

It stands to reason that the car most wanted is not going to be the easiest to get.

But that car will have what you're aiming for.

Style that's no mere one-year wonder — but smart and clean and right in a way that lasts.

Power — plenty of it — a big bonnetful of Fireball straight-eight power, smooth as cream pouring from a pitcher.

Size and roadability and easy-handling — this car will be a travel-wise honey that hugs the road as though it loved it!

There will be smoothness and steadiness you haven't known before — and putting it all together for you a hard-driving production outfit that's staging a notably successful battle against shortages and slow-downs.

If it takes longer to get a Buick than anyone thought a few months back, it has also proved itself as a whale of a lot more automobile than folks expected!

So skip today — give a thought to tomorrow — and plan ahead for something good.

Get your money down on a Buick, available for future delivery — with or without a car to trade.

What Other Car
Has So Much That Clicks
For Forty-Six!

SMARTNESS — that sets the style pattern with car-length Airfoil fenders and bolt-on rear wheel shields.

POWER — from a Buick Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight engine.

OIL SAVINGS — from non-scuffing Accurite cylinder bores.

FLASHING ACTION — of Flite-weight pistons.

STEADINESS — from full-length torque-tube drive in a sealed chassis.

GLIDING RIDE — from Panthergait all-coil springing.

COMFORT — of soft Foamtex cushions in roomy Body by Fisher.

SURE FOOTING — of Broadrim wheels.

CONTROL — through Permi-firm steering.

CONVENIENCE — of high-leverage Step-On parking brake.

PROTECTION — of Buick-origined fender-shielding front and rear bumpers.

* Premium steel machine standard on Super and Roadmaster models. Available on Special Service at extra cost.

Uncle Sam Says

You are still at war one year after V-J Day. That's putting it bluntly, but I know from experience that you like straight-from-the-shoulder talk. Inflation at home has yet to surrender. United States Savings Bonds are still "War Bonds" in the battle for America's economic stability. You can combat rising prices by taking surplus dollars out of the market place. Your government has provided a safe, profitable vehicle for saving these extra dollars—United States Savings Bonds. By investing in Savings Bonds regularly you are building a better America and a better life for you personally.

Greenland's Ice Cap

One theory on the formation of the ice cap says that Greenland was originally shaped like a pie crust, with a rim of mountains around a low central plain. Winter after winter, snow gradually filled the pie crust to overflowing. Each year's snow, pressing down on the ice cap, forces chunks around the edges to break off into the sea, forming icebergs.

Cash Increase

"Cash in hand" for Americans increased over three and a half times during the period of World War II.
